ON THE COVER

The scenic KRAB tower and transmitter site snowed in atop Cougar Mountain, where the engineers perform their weekly ritual by car, foot or snowshoe. For years KRAB has been broadcasting with the oldest transmitter west of the Mississippi. But this spring we installed a new transmitter and a new antenna is on the way, thanks to a grant from HEW. This means we will soon be increasing our power to 17 kilowatts. The new transmitter has also decreased the time we spend off the air. Most commercial stations have two transmitters and an auxiliary power source and can stay on the air continuously, but though we can't provide that kind of reliability we only lose a few days each year to technical difficulties and that must be expected. But in the mean time the KRAB transmitter is humming to itself amidst the cedars, blackberry bushes and snow of Cougar Mountain.

WESTERN SOCIETY AFTER THE HOLOCAUST

In November, Seattle's Institute for the Study of Contemporary Social Problems sponsored the International Scholars Symposium in commemoration of the fortieth anniversary of Kristallnacht (Nov. 9th and 10th, 1938) when the Nazis first launched their campaign to destroy the Jews. The Symposium attracted a host of internationally recognized scholars, each of whom brought his/her own special area of knowledge to bear on the week long discussions of "Western Society after the Holocaust." Among the many prominent participants were Walter Laqueur, distinguished historian, journalist, and co-editor of Commentary magazine; Yehuda Bauer, one of the world's leading historians of the Holocaust, Palestinian Jewry, and Zionism; Leszek Kolokowski, Poland's leading 20th Century philosopher; and Chaim Herzog, Israel's permanent representative to the United Nations.

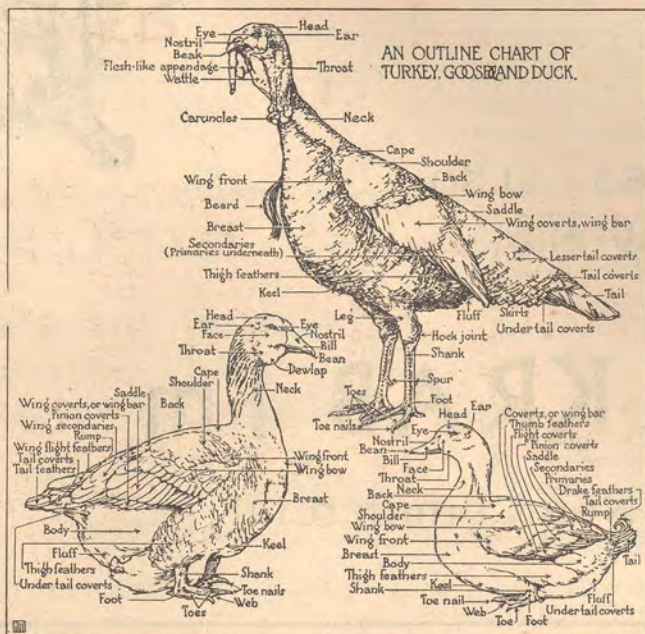

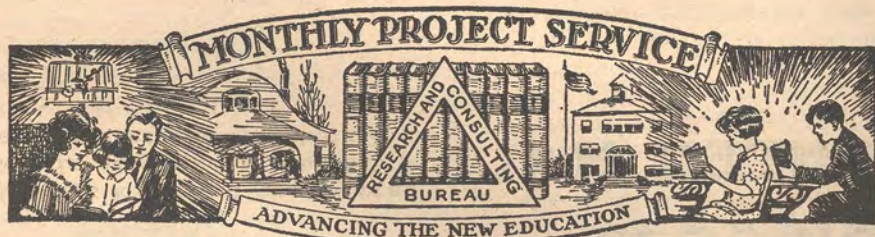

Though the Symposium was conceived as a working conference for scholars, the papers which were delivered should be of considerable interest to anyone with an interest in the subject. Consequently, KRAB will present some of the more provocative of these papers on each of the five Fridays in December, beginning at 8 p.m. These tapes were recorded and produced for KRAB by Fred Katz.

KRAB is happy to announce its selection of Dean Paton as Public Affairs Director. Dean's responsibilities will include coordinating programming ideas with the station's public affairs and news producers, and developing a local news program. "We're in the process of developing an outreach campaign which will serve to inform more people of KRAB's media accessibility and to encourage more active community participation in our public affairs programs.

Dean was formerly UW DAILY Editor and reporter for the SEATTLE SUN. He has done writing, editing, graphics and promotions for numerous community organizations including Live Without Trident, WashPIRG and the Yvonne Wanrow Defense Committee. He has received a Sigma Delta Chi Award for news reporting.

KRAB's Operations/Volunteer Coordinator John Townes will be leaving the station at the end of November.

The last two issues of KRAB's program guide were typed with a typewriter on loan to the station from Rice Business Machines. We at KRAB would like to say thank you to Rice Business Machines for its generous donation.

More from David Gadd's The Loving Friends, an account of the Bloomsbury circle of intellectuals.

10:30 KRABJAZZ

John Rogers with jazz and day-old poetry.

2:00 WILLIAM KAPELL SPECIAL - PART I

On Oct. 28, 1953 pianist William Kapell was killed in an air crash at San Francisco. Only 30 years old, Kapell was widely acclaimed for his solo performances; such masters as Aaron Copland and Horowitz ringingly praised him before as well as after his death. All that remains of him is the memory of a few individuals and some extremely difficult-to-obtain recordings. Today, we present some of his earlier recordings. These include the Khachaturian Concerto for piano, for which Kapell was best known. This two-part program was originally scheduled to be aired on the 25th anniversary of his death, but was postponed due to station technical difficulties.

3:30 KAREN MULHAUSER ON FREE CHOICE

Karen Mulhauser is the executive director of the National Abortion Rights Action League (NARAL). Lois Thetford interviewed her in the KRAB studios recently about the history of the free choice/abortion rights struggle, current legislative moves in Congress and developments around the country and here in Washington state.

8:00 ENVIRONMENTAL NEWS

With Steve Rubin.

8:30 TRUE BLUES

With Karl Kotas.

9:30 AND NOW THE DAY YOU'VE ALL BEEN WAITING FOR: COORS FOR SALE IN WASHINGTON

Think of the snowy Rockies, John Denver, "Rocky Mountain High," and, of course, a tall cool Coors. But maybe: think of union-busting, the John Birch Society, and lie-detector tests for prospective employees. Along with Seattle's shipment of Coors a la case comes a national boycott of the product, led by a host of labor unions and human rights organizations; people unhappy with Coors' treatment of their employees. In this program, Phil Andrus interviews representatives of Coors and several people advocating a local boycott of Coors.

10:00 WILLIAM KAPELL SPECIAL - PART II

Tonight, we present the second part of the William Kapell retrospective. Emphasis is on the later recordings, including the Brahms sonata, with Heifitz and perhaps the best interpretation of Pictures at an Exhibition ever recorded. Despite Kapell's youth, the maturity in his playing when compared with the recordings heard this afternoon is striking. Tonight's recordings are also in better physical condition than this afternoon's, which make them more enjoyable to listen to. Produced by Tom Nast.

11:00 ANDROSIA

Reading and reverie with Phil Andrus.

7 THURSDAY

6:00 EARLY MUSIC

During this morning's musical wanderings, Stu Witmer will probably stumble into something from early 17th century Spain. He will certainly be tilting at the Hollywood wind (movie) mill at 8:45. BBC News at seven.

10:00 MORNING READING

Kathy Bottoms continues from David Gadd's The Loving Friends.

10:30 KRABJAZZ

Today Helene plays Her Favorite Things, not to be confused with My Favorite Things, though that's one of them.

2:00 VIDEOSPHERE

Two noted figures in what is known as "Videosphere" speak - 1) Gene Youngblood, who is author of "Expanded Cinema" which has become somewhat of a bible of the alternative media movement. He spoke at the National Public Access Conference in San Diego in August 1978. This is a tape of his talk. 2) Liza Bear, who is a European artist from the East Coast, recently gave a workshop at and/or on satellite communications. She is an authority on slow scan video systems and has spearheaded a 6-city, 2-way slow scan video hookup. Produced by High Hopes Productions.

3:00 AMORY LOVINS: HARD OR SOFT ENERGY?

Lovins, nominated for a Nobel Peace Prize, believes society is at the crossroads of two energy futures: the "hard" path toward continued fossil-fuel and nuclear generation or the "soft" path to a society run on energy from the sun, wind, garbage, agricultural and forest wastes, and supported by an aggressive conservation ethic. Lovins has become a tireless missionary for the "soft" path and has injected arguments about the "energy question" with the discussion on the quality of life, striving to prove that economic and social well-being are linked and that both are threatened by the present structure of energy use.

Jazz, Latin styles and improvisations with Kim Duffett, Francesco Siqueiros and others.

9:00 BACK TO BACK DRAMA: TWO BY LEONARD MELFI

Glenn Weiss presents "A Company of Exiles" in Birdbath and Lunchtime. The plays are concerned with encounters between people caught in "desperate" situations. They, appropriately, take place in New York City. Birdbath, usually termed a "psychological drama," through a series of bizarre confrontations and harsh revelations promises to leave a wintry chill in the air. Lunchtime works in a lighter vein, but this frank encounter will tease and torment with truths that pierce to the core. The players in both pieces are: Dierdre Burns and Silas Osborne.

10:30 TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES

Local news commentary on the week's events, with analysis by various community activists.

11:00 HEMERAPHONIA
